Description

I like to have champorado for breakfast. I grew-up adding powdered full cream milk in it instead of condensed milk. However, I learned to adapt condensed milk after a while.

Ingredients

- 5 pieces tablea pure chocolate
- 1 3/4 cups glutinous rice or sushi rice
- 3/4 cup granulated white sugar

- 6 to 8 cups water
- Condensed milk to taste

Instructions and Tips

1. Pour water in a cooking pot. Bring to a boil.
2. Put-in the tablea and then stir. Let it dissolve in boiling water.
3. Add-in the rice. Let the water re-boil. Set the heat to low-medium and then stir almost constantly to avoid sticking. The rice should be ready when it absorbs the water (about 15 to 25 minutes).
4. Add the sugar. Stir until the sugar dissolves.
5. Transfer the champorado in individual serving bowls. Top with condensed milk.
6. Serve with tuyo. Share and enjoy.
